

5 charged with using fake casino chips in Singapore

3 January 2011

SINGAPORE -- Five Indian nationals stand accused of allegedly using fake casino chips at the Marina Bay Sands casino Singapore, according to the Times of India.

The alleged chips were worth S$1,000 a piece and the men allegedly exchanged them into smaller genuine chips, the report explained.

The men were arrested at the airport and could face seven years in prison and a significant fine if convicted, the Times of India reported.

< Gaming News

Online Business Consulting | Internet Business Consulting

Source: <http://news.google.com/news/url?sa=t&fd=R&usg=AFQjCNEt5qutQVm1ivjudSd9EqTltuakw&url=http://www.casinocitytimes.com/news/article/5-charged-with-using-fake-casino-chips-in-singapore-195996>