Soaring Eagle Casino will present country stars Pam Tillis and Collin Raye at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 29. Tillis, daughter of country legend Mell Tillis and multi-media artist Doris Tillis, long ago cemented her own place in show business, as a singer/songwriter whose works have been covered by country, R&B, bluegrass and rock performers. The 2022 Nashville Songwriters Hall of Fame nominee made her debut as a singer more than 30 years ago with her 1991 country album, “Put Yourself In My Place,” which went gold and yielded two No. 1 singles. Her next three albums – “Homeward Looking Angel,” “Sweetheart’s Dance” and “Greatest Hits,” were all certified platinum. Her six No. 1 songs during that decade include “Shake the Sugar Tree,” “Mi Vida Loca,” “When You Walk In The Room,” “In Between Dances,” “Don’t Tell Me What To Do,” and her signature song, “Maybe It Was Memphis.” Also on the evening’s bill, Collin Raye has had 24 top ten records and 16 Number One hits, including “Love, Me,” “In This Life,” “Not That Different,” “That’s My Story,” and “I Want You Bad.” In 2011 he released his first inspirational album, “His Love Remains.” Tickets start at $24.
